

Local Bicyclist Celebrates Public Power Week

utility companies are members of ICPA.

Many of the towns prepared meals for the cyclists as they arrived Dave's southern group traveled through Monument Valley, Natural Bridges and Capitol Reef, and was treated to Navajo tacos and turkey dinners

In Dave's group, there was a wide variety of ages, the oldest rider being 82. Despite the cold temperatures and strong winds, Dave said it was a very enjoyable adventure

The northern group arrived in Heber on a Tuesday and was treated to dinner at Chicks Cafe and because the weather was so cold, Heber Light and Power provided lodging for them at Swiss Alps Inn.

On the final day, the 100 bicyclists rendezvoused in Murray and, riding in force down State Street, converged on the State Capitol Building. There they presented Lt Governor Val Overson with 49 proclamations from all the communities which are members of ICPA, celebrating Public Power Week

Dave then presented the Lt. Governor with a cap on behalf of the citizens of Wasatch County and Heber Light and Power.

Goose Neck overlook near Monument Valley.

Bicyclist Dave Goble recently returned from an 8 day bike trek covering nearly 700 miles, beginning in Page, Arizona, and ending at the State Capitol Building in Salt Lake City

Dave represented Heber Light and Power and joined 99 other cyclists in celebrating Public Power Week

Public Power Week was

10-24-90
sponsored by Intermountain Consumer Power Association (ICPA), Heber Light and Power and 48 other publicly owned utility companies throughout Utah Public power utilities are publicly owned by the consumers they serve.

The 100 riders divided into four groups and pedaled their way through all 49 northern and southern communities whose

Dale Bowman of Heber City

was the Winner of the 30-06 Rifle, given away at IGA's
Annual Deer Hunter's Moonlight Madness Evening

